Decision Making

I. Faculty Meetings

The primary method of conducting the business of the Department is through regular faculty meetings. These meetings are open to everyone in the Department, although only faculty members are eligible to vote at the meetings. The faculty consists of tenured, tenure-track and full time instructors. The faculty ratifies decisions that affect the pedagogical activities of the Department. The tenured faculty reserves the prerogative to make final decisions regarding tenure and promotion and faculty governance. The responsibility for all other decisions resides with Department Chair in consultation with the faculty (see Section III). The Chair keeps the faculty informed of the financial stability, budgets, and the health and prospects of the Department with as much precision as possible. Heads of committees keep the faculty informed of all committee business.

A. Method of Convening

The date and time of each faculty meeting will be announced at the first faculty meeting of the academic year. Normally, general faculty meetings will occur once a month. Faculty must be notified more than two working days in advance of any emergency meeting, with a two-thirds majority vote to suspend the rule of advance notice.

The department chair or designate will preside over faculty meetings. The faculty will make every effort to conduct itself in a reasonable manner of decorum as generally understood in Robert’s Rules of Order.

A quorum for all business is defined as a simple majority (50% plus 1) of the faculty.

B. Agenda

The agenda for each faculty meeting must be distributed to the faculty at least two working days in advance of the meeting. In addition to any new business, there will be the following permanent agenda items: Report of the Chair, Report of The Director of Graduate Studies, Report of the Director of Undergraduate Studies, and Report of the Curriculum Committee. The Department Chair is responsible for developing and distributing the agenda. Agenda items submitted by the faculty must be in the hands of the Chair at least three working days in advance of the meeting. If items of business require a vote of the faculty, the issue to be voted on must be listed in the advance agenda. For a vote to be official, advance notice is required, unless a two-thirds majority of the faculty vote to suspend the advance notice rule.

C. Membership and Voting

The following members of the faculty shall have the right to present motions and vote at meetings of the department: all tenured faculty, tenured-track faculty, Senior Instructors, and other full time instructors after three years of employment. Visiting faculty, staff, part-time faculty, and student representatives may meet with the department as non-voting observers and may be allowed to contribute to the discussion. The full-time faculty may elect to meet in executive session at any time by a majority vote.

All matters related to employment shall be conducted by secret ballot; other votes may be by voice or show of hands unless at least two or more members present request a secret ballot.

Physical attendance is normally required for voting and proxy voting is not permitted. If the faculty member is not able to be physically present and is away on department-sponsored business or there is some other extraordinary but valid reason, that faculty member may attend and vote by electronic conference (which is defined as any method of two-way video conferencing or the like). It is the faculty member’s responsibly to notify the department chair of the intent to attend a meeting electronically at least two business days prior to the scheduled meeting. Meeting times will not normally be rescheduled to allow for remote electronic attendance.

Voting by email is permitted. Under normal circumstances, voting by email must be concluded within 24 hours of the actual meeting at which the issue was debated. The faculty is aware there cannot be an expectation of privacy with electronic voting.
